Homeless hero

Soldier who served in Afghanistan told he will not get council house

A SOLDIER who risked his life in Afghanistan could be left homeless when he is discharged on medical grounds in the summer.

Scott Bargery, 29, who is suffering from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, was told he did not qualify for a council house when he leaves the Armed Forces in June.

Scott, who was born and raised in Harlow, and his partner Sophie Popple, 23, are expecting their first child in the autumn.

"There's not much [the Army] can do for me and the medics have said I couldn't stay in military accommodation anyway because of my PTSD," he told the Star this week.

"There are a lot of Armed Forces charities and they all told me to go to my local authority who could help me get housed because my partner, who is three months pregnant, and I are essentially homeless.

"But Harlow Council told us we would be waiting a long time for a home and that I cannot be housed.

"I was devastated, we both were. I have lost my career and now cannot be housed. It's devastating."

The council announced last September it was changing the way the authority allocates housing. It meant that greater priority would be given to members of the Armed Forces as well as adopters, foster carers, existing tenants and those with a link to the town through employment or a family member.

Scott said: "I did not ask to be homeless or lose my job. We wanted to save for a home of our own and I wanted to continue with my career.

"I was shocked. Harlow is my home town. I'm living here at the moment with my partner in her grandmother's home, sleeping on the sofa. Sophie has been my rock through everything especially in the past year."

He added: "I'm absolutely destroyed. What really gets me is that Harlow Council celebrated Armed Forces Day and it is concerning that there isn't a service to help ex-servicemen and women that can find themselves in a difficult situation like this.

"I don't really know what more I can do. We have asked my battalion for help but their hands are tied and charities just can't do anything. Their advice is to go to Harlow Council who have told us we'll be waiting a very long time to get a house."

Councillor Rod Truan, cabinet portfolio holder for housing, said: "The couple initially approached the council prior to the revised changes to the allocation policy which came into effect on September 30, 2013.

"One of the reasons the policy was changed was to give higher priority to serving or former members of the Armed Forces with a connection to Harlow. The council was not aware the couple's circumstances had changed so a housing officer is now looking at the case."

He added: "It is well known that there is a social housing shortage in Harlow and the number of council homes which become available for allocation is limited. We want to help the couple but we need to assess their housing need and verify their circumstances first which is what we are doing."

Police make two arrests after attack on cab driver

A CAB driver has spoken of his shock after being assaulted and robbed by two passengers.

The victim was driving the pair towards the Newhall area of Harlow in the early hours of Sunday when one of them threw a can at his head. He was then attacked and robbed of a quantity cash.

He was taken to hospital where he was treated for facial injuries and an injury to his knee.

The driver, who did not want to be named, said: "It was an unprovoked attack. I picked up the passengers as normal and they had a few points they wanted to go to first before the drop-off point at Newhall.

"All of a sudden one of them threw a can at my face while I was driving. As soon as I turned around I got punched in the face.

"They pulled me out of the car and attacked me, I have bruises all over my back and knees and I'm in a lot of pain."

He added: "It was unprovoked. I just covered my head. I was in shock. I just kept thinking 'what is happening to me?' I wasn't expecting it at all."

Police confirmed that a 25-year-old man and a 26-year-old man - both from Harlow - were arrested on suspicion of robbery. They were released on bail until Sunday, March 9 while further enquiries take place.

Anyone with any information about the incident should contact Detective Constable Armitage at Harlow Police Station on the non-emergency 101 number.

Sex offender jailed for abducting child

A CONVICTED rapist who abducted a 10-year-old boy in Harlow has been jailed.

Alan Morton, 61, who lived in a tent near Harlow Police Station, took the boy to get some fishing equipment.

He also showed another 12-year-old an image on his mobile phone of oral sex.

Morton pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to charges of abducting a child under 16 and causing a child under 16 to watch a person engaged in sexual activity. Both offences took place August 16 last year.

The court was told that in 1992 Moreton was jailed for 10 years for a 'stranger rape' and had a record for other low level offences.

Richard Kelly, prosecuting, said Morton approached three boys while they were fishing at Nettleswell Pond. He falsely claimed he knew the 10-year-old's grandfather and told the boys about his fishing equipment.

He went off to get some of the

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

equipment and when he returned he told them about further items he was keeping at the Oasis Hotel in Old Harlow where he had been allowed to store his possessions in a shed after having temporarily lived there.

The 10-year-old wanted to get it "there and then", the court heard, and he and Morton set off on bicycles.

However, after reports circulated that the boy was missing they were seen by a local man who confronted Morton before he was arrested.

Richard Kelly, representing Morton, said in mitigation the incident started after 2pm and it was 5.30pm when the pair were found.

"The boy was determined to get the equipment there and then and his bike got a puncture as Morton's did en route to the shed," said Mr Kelly.

"Morton thought the boy had a working mobile phone to be contacted or to make contact but it had run out of charge and went to voice-mail when he was phoned."

Sentencing Morton to 18 months behind bars, judge John Dodd told him: "This is plainly a worrying case. It seems to me to take and keep a child away from his parents - plainly as young as this - is a serious matter.

"You took a 10-year-old from his parents who understandably became increasingly concerned where he was."

The judge said there was insufficient evidence to prove a sexual motive.

"You approached them and said you knew the grandfather - which was not true - and also offered to get some of your redundant fishing equipment. You showed the 12-year-old the image on the phone and he turned away in disgust."

An order was made under the Children and Young Persons Act to prevent publication of anything which could lead to the identification of the victims.

It's bathtime for pampered pooches

POOCHES received a pampering for free thanks to a Harlow company.

The team from Dial a Dog Wash were offering their services for free to shoppers and their four-legged friends at Tesco's Brookfield Centre store in Cheshunt on Saturday. The supermarket chain enlisted the company's help to promote Tesco Bank's pet insurance.

Benson the bulldog, Bailey the spaniel and nine-month old puppy Sonny were among those to get a complimentary scrub-up in the back of Dial a Dog Wash's mobile grooming service van.

Karl Bedlow, who is managing director of insurance at Tesco Bank, said: "This offer was our way of saying thank you to our new customers by helping them give their four-legged friends a treat."

READERS LETTERSLabour government to blame for staff shortages in the NHS

SIR, Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride has managed to turn a good news story into a bad news story in order to score political points ('A&E staff shortages cost PAH £525,000', January 30).

The fact that Princess Alexandra Hospital has halved the cost of locum and temporary staff over the last year seems to have evaded her and she also overlooks to mention the £5m recently provided by Government to PAH for new A&E facilities and a new ward to alleviate winter pressure.

Ms Stride also fails to acknowledge that any changes the Government has made take years to work through the system to the frontline, so the current position is as a result of the previous Labour government rather than the current one.

Most NHS hospitals have had recruitment problems for decades. Many including PAH, have had to look abroad to recruit as they can't find enough staff in this country. The Labour government did nothing about this during the 13 years it was in power and for Ms Stride to be criticising hospitals now because of it is laughable.

Finally, what is wrong with the 111 system? I have used it three times so far and found it very satisfactory.

Michael Hardware
Great Brays, Harlow

Northern bypass route is the only solution for new junction

SIR, I and my fellow Conservative councillors for Old Harlow must take issue with Cllr Simon Carter over his letter dismissing the northern bypass route for the proposed new junction of the M11 (Star, February 6).

I am sure members of the Church Langley Residents' Association would soon change their mind if the proposal was to use Church Langley Way/Kiln Lane as the route.

Under the current proposals the road would dissect Old Harlow and Churchgate Street. We recently attended Harlow Civic Society's AGM where David Sprunt from Essex County Council explained the proposals and answered questions.

Many of us spoke that evening and the chairman proposed a motion opposing the proposed route. This was passed by the entire attendance of nearly 200 residents from across Harlow, not just a few local residents' association members.

You need to be wearing rose-tinted glasses if you believe this would solve traffic congestion. On the contrary, increasing traffic flow along Gilden Way from 13,000 vehicles per day to 30,000 does not speak to me of easing congestion; quite the opposite.

Old Harlow will be gridlocked for most of the day with carbon fumes spilling into every house close by. Worse still, there are two schools adjoining Gilden Way. What about the children shut in their classrooms smelling of diesel and petrol fumes.

If we must have an additional junction - and I remain to be convinced - then it must be the northern bypass, even more so now that East Herts is finally accepting some development at Harlow North.

If money is not available for this scheme

THIS week's photo of a swan gliding gracefully on the pond at Newhall was sent in by Stephen Morton, of Carters Mead, Harlow.

"I took the picture on February 2 while I was on a walk with the Harlow Sunday Walkers Group," he writes.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

why not dual the A414 from Southern Way down to Church Langley or Mark Hall? Now there is a sensible suggestion which will no doubt fall on deaf ears.

Cllr Mike Garnett (Conservative)
Wylwood Close, Old Harlow

Tax rise is yet another burden for those already struggling

SIR, At last week's full council meeting Labour councillors added to the cost of living by increasing the council tax by nearly 1.5 per cent.

Cllr Durcan laughed off this increase by suggesting it was a mere 6p extra per week for the average resident. Well, this average resident did not get a 1.5 per cent increase in his wages this year, nor for the last two years either thanks to the mess the last Labour government made of our country. More importantly, many of my constituents are struggling to make ends meet. Six pence may not seem much to a Labour councillor in receipt of a generous taxpayer-funded allowance but to a lot of ordinary working people it is yet another financial burden to be shouldered.

Conservative councillors rightly argued for a council tax freeze whilst protecting not only the statutory services but also the much-cherished discretionary services such as Harlow Playhouse and Pets' Corner.

Labour say they care about the disadvantaged and poor but when in power they do the very opposite. My ward of Staple Tye is one of the most socially deprived in the east of England. We have council housing in serious need of repair and upgrading, and yet by way of some questionable accounting the council has taken £20,000 from the Housing Revenue Account to subsidise the publication of Harlow Times, a periodical that is distributed to one and all, not least owner-occupiers. Such a shift of resources from the poorest to the richest just can't be right.

My Conservative colleagues have listened to the concerns of community activists like Les Cohen by arguing for a reduction in councillor allowances, yet once again the Labour group turned a deaf ear to our recommendations.

The money saved could have been better spent supporting those most in need in our community.

Since Labour are in office I am obliged to criticise them for a budget that could, with a few tweaks, so easily have enjoyed cross-party support, but I cannot help thinking that just as with last year's budget they had now to do with it.

If so, perhaps those really responsible for the budget should be in receipt of our allowances.

Cllr Guy Mitchinson (Conservative)
Joyners Field, Harlow

Football club showed us great generosity at time of sadness

SIR, My son, Scott, and his wife Liz have been staunch supporters of Harlow Town Football Club for many years.

Sadly, Liz passed away recently at the age of 42. Harlow Town FC contacted Scott and offered him, his 12-year-old daughter Eleanor and the family the opportunity to show their respect at one of the club's matches.

We attended the Witham match on January 25. As a mark of respect to Liz the club arranged for a minute's applause before kick-off, the players wore black armbands and the officials were very generous in their hospitality.

Through this letter we would like to tell the people of Harlow how public-spirited Harlow Town FC is. At a time of great sadness their generosity meant a great deal to us.

Why can't we have a bus route to shops at Staple Tye?

SIR, Could someone explain why there is no bus service from Potters Street, Bush Fair and Latton Bush to Staple Tye? Southern Way would be the obvious route.

If I were to shop at Staple Tye shopping centre I have to get a bus to the town centre. This also applies to my membership of the Great Parndon Community Centre.

Surely it makes sense to have a bus route along Southern Way ending at Summers.

Pothole keeps getting bigger yet highways can't find it!

SIR, Since October 2012 I have been complaining to Essex Highways about a large pothole in Hodings Road.

The hole is now so big it is almost impossible to avoid hitting it. Yesterday I rang to find out why it is taking so long to repair and was told that an inspector was unable to locate it. I was furious because it is on a main bus route.

I cannot believe they cannot find it. I was on the phone for 32 minutes trying to find out where they looked but was told the department is not contactable.

Consequently I have had to report it again, causing further delays.

22 Wych Elm - Harlow - Essex - CM20 1QR (Valid from the 12th - 16th February)

Former Tory will fight on with a HIP replacement

A COUNCILLOR who quit the Conservatives last year is preparing to go head-to-head with his former colleagues in this year's local elections after setting up his own party.

Joshua Jolles, who represents Great Parndon on Harlow Council, has said candidates from his Harlow Independence Party will contest every ward in May's poll.

Cllr Jolles registered HIP as an official political party on January 22.

"The time for independence is now," he said this week. "The Harlow Independence Party has been registered as a political party which is marvellous."

"The time of the independent has come. Never mind UKIP, this is a local party campaigning on local issues."

Cllr Jolles said he believed the future of the town must be decided by the people of Harlow, which is why he set up the party.

"We are a people's party; I am unafraid of democracy unlike Labour and the Conservatives," he said. "We do not want conclusions and solutions handed to us by bureaucrats but to make our own well-considered, intelligent solutions for our own town."

Under the slogan 'Outworn old parties need a HIP replacement', the party will be contesting all 11 wards at the elections on May 22.

Membership has been left low at £2 for regular members, and £1 for concessions including students, pensioners and the unemployed.

Cllr Jolles added: "The Harlow Independence Party will focus on the views and interests of Harlow residents."

"We will be putting forward candidates for all the wards in Harlow and I am hopeful of success."

Labour presses ahead with 6p a week tax rise

COUNCIL tax bills will be going up by an average of 6p a week from April after Harlow Council's ruling Labour group pushed through a 1.49 per cent increase.

An attempt by Conservative councillors to freeze the authority's share of the tax bill but increase charges at the Wych Elm car park was defeated at Thursday's budget-setting meeting.

Labour councillor Tony Durcan described the budget as a "health check not a health warning" and said it would protect services for another year.

"No services have been placed at risk because of the financial challenges that we have had and even though we have had to put up charges in different areas, the one clear message is that the car parking charges will not be changed," he said.

However, it was suggested that this could be reviewed in September.

Cllr Durcan added: "As far as we're concerned we are sending a very clear and very decisive message to our local community that we have listened to them, we have responded and no services will be changed. We will not be losing any jobs."

Conservative councillors criticised the decision to continue funding Harlow Times, the authority's quarterly magazine which they dismissed as "council propaganda".

Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

said: "The Labour administration want to use money from the Housing Revenue Account to send a glossy propaganda sheet to every council home in the town, despite the fact that over 70 per cent of the town are not council tenants."

"When you cannot afford it and it is a choice between scrapping a magazine that more often than not gets dumped in the recycling or freezing council tax, I know which one I am voting for."

However there was unanimous support for a recommendation that the council used £10,000 from its reserves to support events commemorating the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War.

● ESSEX County Council has frozen its share of council tax for the fourth consecutive year.

The Conservative-run authority said the budget was an investment in "jobs, people and infrastructure".

Council leader David Finch told Tuesday's full council meeting that over the coming years millions of pounds of additional funding would be spent on road and footpath repairs, schools, apprenticeships and flood management.

Council leader to take a back seat

HARLOW Council leader Mark Wilkinson will step down from his role when his term of office expires in June.

Cllr Wilkinson, who has been leader of the Labour group for six years and council leader since May 2012, will continue to serve as a councillor for the Harlow Common Ward.

He said he had taken the decision after careful consideration.

"I have been leader of the Labour group for the last six years, which has been a privilege," he said. "For the last two years I have had the honour of being the leader of the council for the town where I was born."

"Whilst being the leader of the council is an honour, it is also a very time consuming job. I have found it increasingly difficult to balance having a full-time job, my trade union activities, the important role of ward councillor for Harlow Common and trying to find time for my wonderful family."

Cllr Wilkinson added: "I would like to extend my gratitude to councillors, council officers and residents for their support over the last six years. It truly has been an honour to serve as leader."

"I will always stay fully committed to the Labour group and fully support the Labour administration."

A fundraising champion

AFTER more than 30 years of fundraising for local and national charities you could be forgiven for thinking Graham Ellis might be ready to call it a day but think again.

The 64-year-old chartered surveyor shows no signs of giving up his incredible record of challenges which have raised hundreds of thousands of pounds for worthy causes.

Next month Graham will be presented with the British Empire Medal, awarded to him in the New Year Honours List in recognition of his charity fundraising adventures which have taken him as far as China, Africa and Egypt.

Graham, of Puffers Green, Harlow, was 31 when he completed his first fundraising challenge - the first-ever London Marathon - back in 1981. He ran to raise money for Princess Alexandra Hospital with the aim of buying a resuscitation unit for new-born babies in the neonatal unit.

In fact he shattered his target and succeeded in raising enough money to buy two units.

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"I got thrown into the London Marathon in 1981," said Graham. "I ran it in squash shoes which wasn't great."

"I wanted to raise enough for one unit but I managed to raise enough for two and once I started fundraising I wanted to carry on."

"I had always admired fundraisers and that first London Marathon changed me. The hospital was so grateful for it and I wanted to do more and try to help other causes."

"It became a bit of a challenge."

What followed was to become a series of annual fundraising adventures which have taken him across the UK and across several continents.

Graham, a former pupil at Fawbert and Barnard's Primary School, has cycled from Land's End to John O' Groats, climbed Mount Kilimanjaro, walked the Great Wall of China and along the banks of the River Nile, and trekked across the Sahara Desert.

His efforts have helped to support St Clare Hospice, Cancer Research UK, the Alzheimer's Society, Guide Dogs for the Blind, the Stroke Association and Harlow Boxing Club.

Graham, who funds all his challenges to ensure that every penny he raises goes straight to the charity, said: "Climbing Mount Kilimanjaro in 1994 was one of the hardest ones. There were 30 of us and only nine of us made it to the top."

"It was hard to breathe; it was like having a plastic bag over your head."

Graham is married to Sandra, 64, who he met when they were both pupils at Passmore School. The couple have three sons - Greg, 39, Tim, 36, and Paul, 31 - and five grandchildren. "I have been lucky," he said. "I have had my own business since 1979 which means I've been able to take time off to do the fundraising."

FAMILY GROUP: Graham Ellis with son Greg and grandson Georgie before they set off to complete the Coast-to-Coast Walk, right. Far right, in training for two his sponsored cycle rides.

Graham has also completed several challenges with Greg and grandson Georgie, 12 - including the 192-mile Coast to Coast Walk from St Bees to Robin Hood's Bay. The trio raised money for Harlow Boxing Club and South Essex Gymnastics Club in Basildon - of which keen boxer and gymnast Georgie was a member.

"Georgie is fantastic," said Graham. "He's a great sportsman and all the fundraising he has done has always been to help his club if "I try to help a local charity one year and a national the next, but it depends on my personal relationships or if there's a charity that catches my eye as to who I fundraise for. Sometimes a charity will come to me and ask, I want to help so I try to do something."

He added: "I remember I raised £6,000 for St Clare Hospice and they asked me to do a presentation about all the fundraising I had done. The chief executive said it was fantastic. But I told him I was a little disappointed as I should have raised more.

"He then showed me a checklist of what the money they receive pays for, and down the list was '£6,000: laundry and oxygen for a year'. So although they need millions to keep running each year and in that grand scheme £6,000 is not a lot, it all helps.

"Every little bit of fundraising helps and I think it's important that people who are raising money for charity know that."

For now Graham is preparing to receive his British Empire Medal, an honour that is well deserved for such an unassuming man.

"I have been fundraising for so long that I thought I had missed out on something like this so I'm chuffed," he said. "I'm half expecting for there to be some mistake!

"It's lovely and my family are very proud. The letter arrived while I was in the Sahara so I got home and saw the letter was there from the Cabinet Office.

"It has been more than 30 years of fundraising and I am pleased to be recognised. It's really nice."

Coralie plans to cycle to Paris in cousin's memory

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW woman will be pushing the pedals when she sets off on a 300-mile cycle ride in memory of her cousin who died from cancer.

Coralie Hurst, of Pennymead, will be cycling from London to Paris to raise money for the cancer care unit at St Bartholomew's Hospital in London.

Her cousin, Daniel Till, passed away in March last year at the age of 23.

The 31-year-old, who will be starting her cycling challenge on Wednesday, April 23, said: "Daniel was treated at Barts and I just wanted to do something for the unit. 'I've always wanted to do something like this and with everything that happened it was the extra incentive to do it. My family and friends are backing me all the way and people have already sponsored me. 'The response has been fantastic. Daniel would have been proud of me; he and I were really close. We're a very close family."

Coralie will be cycling the 310 miles over four days and is hoping to raise £1,450 for the cancer unit. She has already raised £1,160 towards her target.

"I'm doing it on my own but I will probably make friends along the way," she said. "I'm already training and I'll be training as close to the time that I leave as I can."

"Obviously you have to give yourself a rest period before you go but I'll be training as much as I can."

"This is the first time I have ever done anything like this. I am really looking forward to it but I am a bit nervous."

"I'm more nervous about the first day

PEDAL PUSHER: Coralie Hurst will be cycling 310 miles from London to Paris and just adapting to the long cycle. We have to catch a ferry at a certain time so I want to make sure I'm there on time and don't miss it!

"I want to raise as much as I can for Barts; Daniel's death just gave me the push I needed to do it. That's all the motivation I need."

To sponsor Coralie visit her fundraising page at www.justgiving.com/Coralie-Hurst.

Passmores pupils keep bouncing for charity fundraiser

TWO students from Passmores Academy put their sporting talents to good use with a marathon trampoline session to raise money for the No Child Without charity and the Sea Cadets.

Brother and sister George and Sydni Reed completed a three-hour sponsored trampoline session, raising more than £100.

PE teacher Dave Archer, who founded No Child Without, said: "Sydni and George are keen trampolinists. They gained lots of support from family and friends and raised over £100."

"They both did really well to manage such a long time on the trampoline and our thanks and congratulations go to them."

Lottery grants for Harlow charities

MORE than £1.3m in National Lottery grants was invested into Harlow last year.

Figures released this week reveal that 10 grants were awarded across the town to various arts, sports and community groups.

Safer Places, an independent domestic abuse charity in Harlow was awarded £252,366, homeless charity Street2Homes who provide a day shelter and help homeless people find work and accommodation were given £276,585.

Paladin-National Stalking Advocacy Service CIC, which provides support and help for victims of stalking, was awarded £356,898.

Car park cash to aid poverty fight

THE Stort Valley branch of Results UK, an international charity that campaigns to end extreme poverty, raised £357 when it held a charity car park at Harlow College.

The money will be used to tackle major diseases such as TB and help the poorest and most disadvantaged children into quality education.

Spokeswoman Gillian Price said: "Despite being preventable and curable, tuberculosis is the world's largest infectious killer and continues to destroy lives and communities."

"We campaign for TB to be dealt with urgently; to ensure the UK and the EU are spending what is needed to bring the disease under control and to ensure the policies for tackling the disease are fair and effective."

Christine donates cook book proceeds

A KEEN cook has donated the £1,100 proceeds from her first recipe book to the Williams Day Cancer Unit at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital and Macmillan Cancer Support.

Christine Beetlestone, of Mulberry Green, Harlow, fulfilled a lifelong ambition when she wrote and published the cook book after being diagnosed with cancer two years ago.

Christine's Farmers' Market Recipe Book features more than 60 of Christine's own recipes for fish, meat, vegetables, soups, desserts and cakes.

She said: "The sales of the book are going quite well so I decided that while it is on people's minds, I would give £500 to Macmillan Nurses and £500 to the Williams Day Unit."

"I felt it was no good waiting until I had all the money in and wanted to do it now!"

Christine is pictured with, from left, clinical nurse specialist Lisa Reid, cancer services manager Bernadette Roach and lead nurse Toni Wright. To buy the book call Christine on (01279) 413206.

A day for lovers ... and to join in the Race for Life

ORGANISERS of this year's Race For Life in Harlow are urging women to use Valentine's Day as a reason for signing up.

The Cancer Research UK fundraiser takes place in Harlow Town Park on Sunday, May 18 when more than 2,000 women are expected to line up for either the 5k or 10k event.

Gill Burgess, the charity's events manager for Essex, said: "Valentine's Day is a great opportunity to spend time with the people we love and for that reason it's also the perfect date to enter Race for Life.

"This is because taking part in Race for Life and raising money for life-saving research will help more men, women and children survive cancer so they can go on to spend more precious moments with their loved ones."

Last year 2,069 women took part in the women-only event in Harlow and raised £135,926. This year organisers have set a target of 2,100 entrants and hope to raise £138,000.

Gill added: "Race for Life events are not competitive, they are not about being fit or fast. Instead, they are an amazing way to celebrate life but also remember those who have been lost to the disease.

"Participants may be walking or running but what's inescapable is the power and strength that comes from thousands of women joining together to confront cancer."

Actor Ray hails cab firm's new marshalling service

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW cab firm called on the services of actor Ray Winstone when it launched a new pick-up point and marshalling service in the town centre yesterday (Wednesday).

The Sexy Beast star was outside the Asda supermarket in Water Gardens when ABC Cars unveiled its new service.

Marshalls will be available from Monday to Saturday from 10am-6pm to assist customers who need help loading their shopping into the cab.

Mr Winstone, who lives in Roydon, and has been using ABC Cabs for around 13 years, said: "Without local businesses we would not have a town centre.

"It is all well and good to have the big high street stores but we need small local businesses like ABC Cars.

"ABC have always been there for me when I have needed them, I trust them and the service they provide to take me, my kids or my wife anywhere, I know they're safe."

He added: "I buy everything locally, I think it is important to support local businesses."

Nick Jones, a director of ABC Cars, said: "The response ABC has had from customers has been unprecedented. Our calls have increased massively with an extra 750 pick-ups per week from the Water Gardens alone.

"ABC is committed to serving its customers with a safe, reliable, friendly and low cost service."

Water Gardens centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "We have had a good relationship with ABC in the past and this new pick-up point and marshalling service is great for our customers.

"The marshalls are very friendly. The service will be a great benefit to our shoppers and if the customers are happy then we are happy."

Unrivalled reputation for first class service and customer satisfaction

ESTABLISHED in 1996 by Stuart Dingle from a unit on Harlow Common, Airdrome Cars has built up a reputation for first class service and customer satisfaction.

The company has grown but today it still has the same unrivalled reputation for quality and care.

Stuart started the company after leaving the Darlington's dealership in Harlow where he had worked for 10 years. In 2009 the business moved to larger premises at the picturesque setting of Tile Gate in High Laver, near Harlow.

With his many years of experience at Darlington's, Stuart specialises in Renault vehicles and was recently joined by a former Darlington's colleague, Mick, who is a specialist in Honda and Skoda vehicles.

As well as Renault, Honda and Skoda vehicles, Airdrome also deals with all makes and models and will carry out servicing, clutch kits, timing belt kits, all repairs, MOTs and fault diagnostics.

With their trustworthy reputation, Stuart and Mick pride themselves on offering good customer service and set themselves apart from the competition by offering a more personal touch to customers.

One way they do this is by giving a free collection and delivery service which sees many happy customers coming back time and again. They now have a large client base and some customers have been with Airdrome over the past 17 years.

Why not give Airdrome a call and try them for yourself? They have a name you can trust and offer a friendly, reliable and convenient service.

Their services extend through Harlow, Sheering, Ongar, North Weald and Sawbridgeworth – with their pick-up service available from any of these locations either from your home or place of work.

First victory for MP in energy bills campaign

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has claimed his first victory in his campaign to stop energy companies penalising customers who do not pay their bills by direct debit.

Independent energy provider First Utility announced on Friday it will be cutting charges for all customers not paying by direct debit to just £2 a month, equating to £24 a year.

A delighted Mr Halfon said: "It just shows that a bit of public pressure can go a long way and I am over the moon that First Utility has decided to do this.

"I hope that other companies will follow suit and act in their customer's best interests by slashing their charges for those who do not wish to pay for their energy bills by direct debit."

On Tuesday Mr Halfon introduced a 10-Minute Rule Bill calling for the introduction of legislation to limit the amount of additional fees that can be charged.

In his speech he called for an inquiry into the charges, greater transparency and for a cap to be imposed at £2 a month.

He said: "Since starting this campaign I have been inundated with letters from pensioners who have told me they are hit by these extra charges." He added he had "no problem" with a small administrative charge but believed sums of £390 a year were "not in any way reflective of the cost of sending out paper bills".

Drunken recluse jailed for mosque bomb hoax

A DRUNKEN recluse who threatened to bomb a mosque in a 999 call to police has been jailed for 12 months.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told former warehouseman Nigel Flanagan, 52, of Wharley Hook, Harlow, had drunk three litres of vodka before he made the call from Bush Fair at 4.30pm on January 8 this year.

Flanagan told the control room operator he had bullets and was going to put a bomb in a mosque.

Richard Stevens, prosecuting, told the court that the defendant referred to the killing of Private Lee Rigby in Woolwich and told the operator: "I want to see Muslims hanging in the street and kick the * out of them".

Flanagan, who claimed he used to be an Army chef, pleaded guilty to communicating false information with intent to cause a false belief that a bomb was present at a location in Harlow.

He denied a second offence of religiously aggravated fear of violence and the judge formally entered a not guilty verdict.

The prosecution said uniformed officers arrived at Bush Fair while Flanagan was still on his mobile talking to the control room. He was taken into custody and repeated his anti-Muslim comments. He said: "I hate all them Muslims. I am gonna bomb all their cars" and "I wanna kill a Muslim".

Flanagan told officers he had taken 16 painkillers the night before and on the day he made the telephone call he had drunk up to three litres of vodka. He said he could not remember making the calls or comments.

Mr Stevens said: "He apologised for wasting police time and said he doesn't have a problem with anyone from the

staro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Muslim community and doesn't know why he said what he did. He accepted he was drunk at the time."

Laura Austin, representing Flanagan, said in mitigation he had lived a solitary and reclusive life in Harlow for years and drank excessively.

"January 8 was not particularly extraordinary until his arrest," she said. "He went to a shop to buy a paper and purchased a litre of vodka because he drinks three to three-and-a-half litres a day. He recollects going to get his haircut but after that he has no recollection whatsoever until he woke, eventually sober, in the police station."

Miss Austin added police and the security services had carried out checks on Flanagan which confirmed he had no links to any extremist group.

The court was told the defendant, whose family live in the Bournemouth area, had worked in warehouses until last year when he became unable to work following a road accident.

In July 1993 Flanagan was jailed for two months for making a bomb hoax targeted at an ex-employer as a result of which a pub had to be evacuated.

Jailing Flanagan for 12 months, judge Anthony Goldstaub told him his actions had been "deplorable".

He said: "You were drunk and you are a person of some eccentricity which was understood by police who didn't clear the area or search for bombs. They realised that you were behaving like a nutter."

The judge added: "England is admired throughout the world rightly for the success of its diverse communities, for the tolerance with which diverse cultures and religions are entertained and for the lawful and peaceful way in which disputes and expressions of opinion are dealt with."

"It's necessary that these desirable qualities of our society should be preserved and that people who threaten them shall be sentenced in such a way as deters others from following in their footsteps."

Essex in top 10 of obesity league table

ESSEX is in the top 10 of a league table of adults who are overweight or obese.

Figures released by Public Health England show that 67.3 per cent of adults in the county have a weight problem.

The figures place Essex sixth in a league table of counties behind Cumbria (68.3 per cent), Lincolnshire (68.2 per cent), North Yorkshire (67.9 per cent), Staffordshire (67.9 per cent) and Northamptonshire (67.5 per cent).

The figures for the East of England is 65.1 per cent compared to the national average at 64 per cent.

Dr Gina Radford, Anglia and Essex Public Health England centre director, said:

"There is no silver bullet to reducing obesity. It is an issue that requires action at national, local, family and individual level."

"This new data will enable local councils to monitor progress towards the national ambition of achieving a downward trend in excess weight by 2020."

Coach firm gearing up for launch of new route

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN award-winning bus and coach company is picking up the reins and taking on an extra route to ensure bus users are not left stranded.

Galleon Travel who celebrated a win at the Harlow Star Business Excellence Awards for Business Growth last year have been running since 2003, when Helen Bowden was running the company while working at Princess Alexandra Hospital as a nurse.

The business will launch a new bus route on Saturday, March 1 from Harlow to Waltham Cross after Olympian abandoned the route in December 2013.

Galleon duty manager Oliver Pickett said: "There will be two buses covering this route, the 410 and the 411 with a half an hour service from Monday to Friday and an hourly service on Saturdays.

"Helen used to run the route with Trustline and it's great to have it back in the company. It's a very popular route and it is good to be able to link back into what is quite a key route from Harlow."

Based at Hailes Farm, Roydon, Galleon Travel has been going from strength to strength since Mrs

Bowden and her husband Mark took over in 2010. The business now employs up to 40 staff members including office workers, drivers and engineers.

Mrs Bowden said: "We have lived in Harlow for years and are passionate about the town and all it offers. In a funny way it feels like we are now able to give something back to the people of Harlow.

"At last we have thriving bus and coach routes that work for Harlow people and also offer a wide range of choices. The plan now is to keep growing the business so we can offer even more."

Brothers treading a new path with tyre replacement business

TWO brothers who set up a tyre shop in Old Harlow are working hard to drive their business forward.

Zabair, 29, who juggles the business with his job as a cab driver, said: "It is our first business and although it started slowly it has been going well."

"We're keen to get A1 Tyres on the map for Harlow drivers. We work with all types of tyres - brand new ones and part worn tyres as well. We can also do servicing as well."

He added: "We both have other jobs as well and we work around our timetables and the business so that everything runs properly."

"It's going well, and hopefully we can continue to grow."

NEWS

No let-up in our pursuit of burglars

YOU may recall in my last piece I mentioned that often an increase in house burglaries occurs into the new year.

Once again this has proven to be the case and over the past few weeks the southern and central areas of the town have been hit by thieves.

Our police teams had a frustrating couple of weeks with only the odd success but in the past week two local teenagers have been jailed for a burglary in Passmores and three more Harlow teenagers have also been charged with four burglaries across Kingsmoor and Stewards.

Our CID teams follow up all house burglaries and I am sure will solve even more of these horrid crimes.

The method used by these thieves followed a pattern and my advice is to ensure your garden shed and garage are locked and secured properly at all times. Please don't leave garden tools outside as these are being used to break into rear windows.

If you want more advice on home or personal security contact our crime prevention specialist, Graham Anthony. Just call 101 and ask for extension 300383.

HARLOW Police's new commander, Chief Superintendent Sean O'Callaghan, joined the neighbourhood policing teams and special constabulary in visiting 10 public houses and other licenced premises on the

ON THE BEAT with Sergeant Rob Cox of the Harlow Neighbourhood Policing Team

last evening of January.

This is a programmed initiative which we carry out a number of times throughout the year with our licensing and council safety team partners. During the visits one male was found with drugs on him and was arrested.

We will continue our programme and our message is that our licensed premises are not places to take illegal drugs.

NOT all of our work ends in success, of course, and crimes of damage to cars and shed break-ins have risen over the past couple of months.

We are always busy - all the emergency services are pretty well flat-out all the time

- but please always call in any suspicious behaviour. We will do our best to get there quickly and your piece of information could lead to us cracking the case later on.

If our incident control room tell you that it will be a while before officers attend, rest assured that someone will be looking into any patterns of these incidents and you are not wasting our time.

Of course, in a genuine emergency always call 999.

WE often work on drugs-related issues reported by you and these can take some time to gather evidence on and get a result which we can release to the public.

For example PC Tim Knights, the community officer for Hare Street and Little Parndon, arrested a male near Morley Grove in November last year. I can now reveal that a 34 year-old man from north London has been charged with three drugs offences.

During this inquiry PC Knights seized more than 100 wraps of hard drugs with a street value of £5,000.

In a recent raid our response colleagues seized more than 50 cannabis plants from a flat in the Bush Fair area. A local man has been charged with drugs offences.

I heard the other day that the old cop show Police 5 may be making a comeback, so it would be wrong of me not to say the tagline - keep 'em peeled.

Dogs take the lead in hospice fundraiser

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TAILS were wagging when scores of dog owners took their canine companions for an invigorating walk to raise money for St Clare Hospice.

The Winter Walkies event on Sunday saw 150 people and their pets brave the cold and wet weather to take part in the 5km stroll in the countryside around the Hastingwood hospice.

"It was fantastic to see so many dog owners and their pets turn out," said St Clare fundraising manager Anna Baldwin. "There were dogs of all shapes and sizes but all were incredibly well behaved."

"Winter Walkies is one of our most popular events and it was wonderful that once again it was so well supported by our dog-loving supporters."

Before the walkers set off the organisers picked the winners of competitions for the wackiest wellies and the best dog/owner lookalike. The prizes were handed out by East Herts District Council chairman Graham McAndrew.

There was also a raffle with prizes including a hamper packed with doggy treats.

Every participant received a cup of warming soup and a roll as well as a Winter Walkies medal, while their four-legged companions were given a dog treat donated by Jolleys pet superstore.

A second Winter Walkies event will be held at GreenAcres Woodland Burials Park in North Weald on Sunday (February 16). There is still time to register in advance - the cost is £10 for adults and £5 for children - but walkers can also sign up on the day.

For more information, call events fundraiser Rebecca Barnett on (01279) 773750, email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk or visit the website at www.stclare-hospice.org.uk.

What a giant jelly!

SCIENTISTS are getting excited about a huge new species of jellyfish that washed up on a beach in Australia. It was discovered by a family last month and stretches 1.5m wide. It's a type of lion's mane jellyfish but scientists are trying to classify which species it is and give it a name.

In recent years there have been huge blooms of jellyfish in the waters near where this one was found, but no one knows why. Dr Gershwin from Australia's national science agency said: "We're very keen to find out why jellyfish are blooming in such super abundances in these southern waters."

Proud Debbie is a real high flyer in the Air Cadets

A HARLOW woman has been appointed as the first female officer to head up the Essex Air Cadets.

Wing Commander Debbie Robinson, 54, of Parsonage Leys, will take over responsibility for the majority of the county with more than 1,000 cadets in over 26 squadrons.

Mrs Robinson first joined the Girls Venture Corps (Air Wing) in 1972, rising through the ranks to the posts of unit sergeant, section officer, assistant commandant, unit commandant and officer in charge of the Harlow unit.

She then joined the Air Training Corps as a civilian instructor in 1982 and once again she worked her way up through the ranks.

"I am very proud," she said this week. "Girl power I think is the word. A lot of people were considered for the position and to be appointed is absolutely fantastic."

Mrs Robinson, who will juggle her new role with her job as a sales manager

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

for a Harlow electronics company, added: "The cadets are like a big family and the opportunities are endless.

"If you want to learn something in the classroom we can do that, if you want to fly an airplane then we can do that too. It's a fantastic organisation.

"I left the Harlow squadron around 11 years ago and moved on to be wings staff and became squadron Leader in 2004."

Mrs Robinson and her husband, John, have a daughter, Stacey, who is studying at Leeds University.

"People often ask how I find the time to juggle everything, including a family, but I do it because I enjoy it," she said.

"It is so satisfying to see a 13-year-old join us as a fresh-faced cadet and then leave us at 20 as a nice young man or woman who has a lot of different skills and can pursue their career. Hopefully we have had a positive impact on their life."

WINNERS: The Star team with the 'Creative Campaign of the Year' award

Stars shine as Local World staff celebrate success at Vegas-style awards night

ALL the glitz and glamour of Las Vegas came to the Star's annual awards ceremony on Friday.

Recognising excellence and the achievements of staff and the newspapers they produce in the East and Central regions of parent company Local World, the glittering occasion was held in the grand marquee at Bedford Blues Rugby Club.

The stars of Local World dressed to impress, came out in force and took to the red carpet to celebrate. And by the end of the evening the Star had picked up two awards.

Mike Richardson, executive director of Local World, Central and East, welcomed staff and thanked the company's sponsors who had made the evening possible and who, by their support, ensured that it was an amazing success.

The casino-themed setting - complete with chocolate gambling chips, dice and lucky keyrings on every table and giant playing cards displayed around the walls - all contributed to the Vegas-style atmosphere.

A champagne reception was followed by a four-course meal. By the time Mr Richardson, pictured left, stood up to deliver a digitally illustrated, entertaining and occasionally saucy speech, the atmosphere was relaxed, convivial and expectant.

The much-anticipated presentation of awards was the highlight of the evening - not least for the well-deserved winners. From Unsung Hero to Title of the Year, the competition was fierce and the outcome was never a foregone conclusion.

The Star team won the 'Creative Campaign of the Year' trophy for the Harlow Business Excellence Awards while Star media sales consultant Johanna Beetlestone was crowned Sales Person of the Year.

The past year has been challenging at times for regional newspapers but if the Local World Excellence Awards 2014 presentation dinner was anything to go by, the Star came up trumps.

Ann's reflections on life spent in the public gaze

FORMER Conservative MP Ann Widdecombe is no stranger to writing.

She has penned four novels since 2000 but it is her latest offering - her autobiography - which she will be discussing when she takes part in the Essex Book Festival later this month.

"The book goes back to my childhood and deals with that and university as well as my time in Parliament and on Strictly Come Dancing," said Ann.

"It was not difficult to write because it's your life and you know what happened, it is not like a story but the most challenging aspect was choosing what bits to put in and what to leave out.

"It was just a question of saying, 'well I think that is enough of that' and moving on."

Ms Widdicombe held the Maidstone seat for the Tories from 1987 to 2010. But she insists her autobiography - Strictly Ann, The Autobiography - is not a "political tome". Instead it is an overview of her life from her early family life in Singapore to her convent school days in Bath and her student life in bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

Birmingham and Oxford.

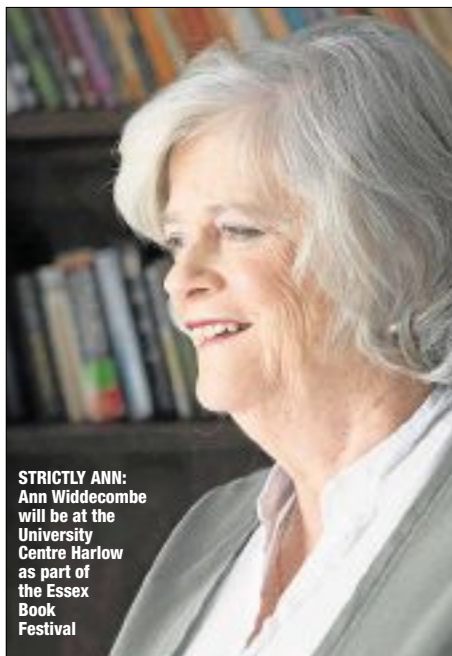

The book also gives readers a chance to look into her political life as well as her appearance on Strictly, TV and radio.

She said: "I never thought I would write an autobiography, I was not convinced and I wasn't going to do it, but there seemed to be quite the demand and it was a different form of writing which is why I decided to take it on.

"Readers should not expect a political tome or a very detailed analysis. The book is a general flavour of a life lived in politics and within the public eye.

"I am very much looking forward to the Essex Book Festival. I love all types of literary festivals and it won't be my first time in Harlow. It should be a very good event."

>>Ms Widdicombe will be appearing at the University Centre Harlow, in Velizy Avenue on Saturday, February 22. Tickets cost £8 and £7; to book, call (01206) 573948.

How to plot the perfect murder

TWO authors will be coming to Harlow as part of the festival to give tips to aspiring crime writers on how to plot the perfect murder.

Julia Crouch, pictured below, and Claire McGowan will be at the University Centre Harlow, in Velizy Avenue, on Saturday, March 29 to offer tips and advice on how to break through writer's block and complete a novel.

Crime fiction writer Julia said: "Both Claire and I are quite experienced novelists.

"We have also done lots of teaching and workshops over the last few years and this workshop is hoped to help people with their writing and how to continue past the point when you want to quit.

"We'll be looking at the notion of plotting, there will be a chance for people to ask questions of us, write and we'll be giving advice and lessons."

Ed Byrne's comedy gold as he hits 40

IRISH comedian Ed Byrne will not have to travel very far from home for his new show Roaring Forties which will be coming to the Harlow Playhouse on Wednesday March 5.

It is the second leg of his hugely successful tour that will see audiences regaled with tales of the comedian's life in the past couple of years.

"I talk about a lot of different things that have happened to me in the past year or two and one of the big things is turning 40 which is why the show is called Roaring Forties," Ed said.

"I love the show, it includes all the stuff that most people would get really annoyed by but I find a way of turning those annoying moments in life into gold. And it isn't just about getting older, a lot of the things that happen could happen to anyone at any age but I like to think they're a sign of me getting older.

"One of the things I talk about is my hernia operation, it is one of my favourite bits, I really enjoy that story."

The 41-year-old underwent a hernia operation recently at Rivers Hospital in Sawbridgeworth and is hoping to invite his doctor to the show.

"He told me his son was a fan and he should be at the Playhouse show. It will be funny to see his reaction as I don't think he knows that he is a part of the show," Ed added.

"I have had four men faint at the hernia story. I'm not sure why really. It isn't that bad at all."

Roaring Forties follows on from the success of his last two shows - Crowd

Pleaser and Different Class. He has been touring with Roaring Forties since last year and the spring tour as kicked off on a high.

Ed, who has appeared on BBC 2's Mock the Week and Have I Got News For You, said: "It is the second leg of the tour. I did the show in Edinburgh back in August which went really well and during the first leg of the tour I did have a support act but now it is just me.

"I used to come out, and warm up the audience for the support act anyway just to get a better balance to the show so I think it works better now as instead of having a really long second half I can have two halves of 45 minutes.

"I think that works better for the audience, and it works better for the energy of the show."

He added: "Each show is a little bit different as I keep adding to it. Everything is an opportunity for something funny.

"I got done for speeding and I got offered to take the driver's awareness course. I know a lot of people may find something like that annoying but I just think 'there must be something in this, something funny will come out of this' and you create funny moments by saying or doing funny things.

"I'm really looking forward to coming to Harlow. I'm close to home and it should be a good show."

>> Tickets for Roaring Forties cost £23.50. For more details or to book, call the box office on (01279) 431945 or visit the website at www.playhouseharlow.com.

It's back! Music festival returns for a third year

MUSIC lovers are in for a treat this summer as the line-up for this year's LinkFest is announced.

Now in its third year, the live music extravaganza will return with a host of acts performing over two weekends in the summer at Harlow Town Park.

Co-organiser Jamie Pring, who has put on the free event with help from Great Parndon Community Association and Harlow Rock School, said he hoped for an even bigger turnout than last year.

He said: "We feel we have pulled out all the stops on the music side of things with lots of variation which hopefully means there is something for everyone.

"Harlow Rock School will again be operating the charity car park courtesy of Pearsons, we are well supported by the GPCA and The Colournet and we have a great team of volunteers who really help out and have fun, which we could always do with more of.

"Our supporters from day one have been Avant Garde and The Garden of India who are again involved, but we are desperate for local companies to get involved to help keep the festival running as it is self funding.

"The community of Harlow has always supported us and we hope they do again and have a fabulous time as they always do."

The bill for this year's events features local live favourites Me & Him, Steve Forward, Archive, Sax On Fire and Repertoire Dogs.

The line-up, announced live on Tuesday night on Hawks Radio, is as follows:

THE GALLERY
Parndon Mill, Harlow
(01279) 426042

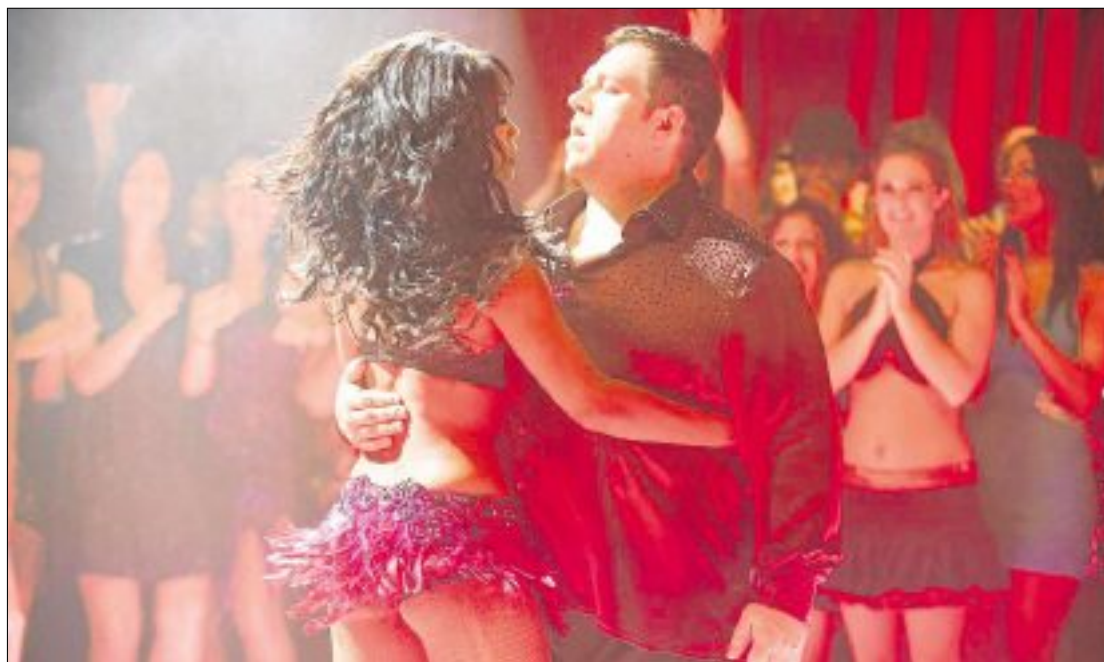

ART The Counterpoint exhibition by Stella Hunt shows different subject matters using various materials as well as textures. Each piece of work is about a journey. Stella Hunt states that she never wants to know what the finished painting will be like until she gets there - for her this is a challenge. The exhibition will be on display until Sunday, February 16. The gallery is open from Tuesday to Friday between 10am and 5pm and on Sunday from 2pm to 4pm.

GIBBERD GALLERY
Civic Centre, Harlow
(01279) 446404

ART Recent paintings by Graham Boyd are on show in a new exhibition which opened at The Gibberd Gallery on Friday. Boyd has always been primarily enthralled with light and the expressive properties of paint. The challenge that the painter takes on board when trying to evoke space on a flat surface through contrasts and the illusionistic nature of colour has kept him fully occupied for more than half a century. The gallery is open from Monday to Friday between 9am and 4.45pm.

GATEHOUSE ARTS
West Gate, Harlow
(07530) 048739

ART The Gate Modern, which opens at the West Gate gallery on Wednesday (February 12) is an exhibition featuring work by the Gatehouse Arts Group. On display will be pieces by Jim Brown, Freya Boittier, Gerry Parnham, Michael Barrett, Wellington Kapsara, Raphael Sagage, Rob Davies, Jane Burnett, Fiona Bennett, Charles Long and Eddie Boldizar. The West Gate gallery is open throughout the week and at weekends.

Strictly rom-com dancing

certificate 15, 1h38m

WHEN dance films are well choreographed, they can jive happily into our affections.

John Travolta swivelled his hips to perfection in Saturday Night Fever, Jennifer Beals traded her welder's mask for ballet pumps in the sweat-drenched Flashdance and Patrick Swayze and Jennifer Grey sent teenage hearts racing as they performed that iconic overhead lift in Dirty Dancing.

Australian director Baz Luhrmann was king of the dance floor in 1992 with Strictly Ballroom and, more recently, Jamie Bell proved a miner's son likes to boogie in the Oscar-nominated Billy Elliot.

Now Nick Frost kicks up his heels in Cuban Fury, a rags-to-sequins tale of a one-time dance champion who rediscovers his mojo in order to impress a woman.

As a teenager, Bruce Garrett (Frost) won trophies with his sister Sam (Olivia Colman) under the tutelage of dance teacher Ron Parfitt (Ian McShane). But at the height of their succes, Bruce suffered horribly at the hands of bullies and quit dancing forever.

Twenty-five years later he designs lathes and enjoys infrequent nights out with best mates Gary (Rory Kinnear) and Mickey (Tim Plester).

The arrival of new boss Julia (Rashida Jones) kindles a spark of life in Bruce but he knows she's too good for him. However, when he learns that Julia loves to salsa, Bruce nervously heads back to the dance floor in the company of outrageously camp buddy Bejan (Kayvan Novak).

However, chauvinistic work colleague Drew (Chris O'Dowd) also has his sights set on Julia.

Cuban Fury means well and has its heart in the right place. Jon Brown's script owes a debt of gratitude to Luhrmann, replacing the smouldering glances of the Paso Doble with the seductive sway of salsa.

Director James Griffiths introduces fantastical flourishes including a dance battle in a car park between Bruce and Drew complete with gravity-defying somersaults and friction-defying knee-skids on asphalt that take away from the countless hours of work invested by the cast perfecting the complicated routines.

O'Dowd's nemesis is grotesque while Jones's love interest is too thinly sketched to deserve Bruce's fragile heart.

Frost's character is instantly likeable, though, and we root for him to emerge victorious on the dance floor when the rest of the film threatens to fall apart.

THE MONUMENTS MEN
certificate 12A 1h58m

THIS wartime drama relives one of the greatest treasure hunts in history.

Hitler's army marches across Europe and plunders priceless paintings, sculptures and artefacts. But as the tide turns and the Third Reich prepares to fall, the Nazis are ordered to destroy the artistic masterpieces they have stolen.

President Roosevelt sanctions First World War veteran and Harvard art historian George L. Stout (George Clooney) to lead a platoon of museum directors, architects and historians behind enemy lines to save as many treasures as possible.

Stout recruits six men for the job - museum curator James Rorimer (Matt Damon), Sergeant Richard Campbell (Bill Murray), Sergeant Walter Garfield (John Goodman), Lieutenant Jean-Claude Clermont (Jean Dujardin), Private Preston Savitz (Bob Balaban) and Major Donald Jeffries (Hugh Bonneville)

- with invaluable assistance from Parisian curator Rose Valland (Cate Blanchett).

Caught up in a race against time to avert the destruction of 1,000 years of culture, the men risk their lives to return the artworks to their rightful owners.

TINKER BELL & THE PIRATE FAIRY
certificate U 1h18m

A FAIRY called Zarina (voiced by Christina Hendricks) has always harboured a fascination with the iridescent Blue Pixie Dust that is essential to life in Pixie Hollow.

She is particularly interested in the colour of Pixie Dust and asks Fairy Gary (Jeff Bennett), the Scottish foreman of the dust-keepers, if there could be other hues. Zarina experiments with the dust with disastrous consequences and flees the kingdom in shame.

She leaves behind benevolent ruler Queen Clarion (Anjelica Huston) and fellow fairies Tinker Bell (Mae Whitman), Fawn (Angela Bartys), Iridessa (Raven-Symone), Rosetta (Megan Hilty), Silvermist (Lucy Liu) and Vidia (Pamela Adlon).

At her lowest ebb, Zarina aligns herself with the pirates of Skull Island led by handsome and charming cabin boy, James (Tom Hiddleston).

One year after her inglorious exodus, Zarina covertly returns to Pixie Hollow and helps the salty seadogs steal the Blue Pixie Dust in order to make their pirate ship fly.

In the absence of the dust, Pixie Hollow is plunged into darkness so Tinker Bell and her plucky pals give chase, determined to restore balance to their stricken realm.

THE LEGO MOVIE
certificate U 1h40m

SOCIALLY awkward LEGO mini-figure Emmet (voiced by Chris Pratt) works on a building site in his home town of Bricksburg.

Desperate to fit in, Emmet follows the orders of President Business (Will Ferrell), who is actually arch-villain Lord Business in disguise.

This tyrant plans to destroy Bricksburg and the neighbouring districts of Cloud Cuckoo Land and Middle Zealand using an artefact known as The Kragle. Ancient wizard Vitruvius (Morgan Freeman) and his sassy henchwoman Wyldstyle (Elizabeth Banks) mistake Emmet for a mythical figure who possesses the power to create anything out of LEGO bricks with his mind.

Emmet is press-ganged into leading the perilous quest to defeat the despot aided by a rogue's gallery of mini-figures including Wyldstyle's boyfriend Batman (Will Arnett), Green Lantern (Jonah Hill), Wonder Woman (Cobie Smulders), Abraham Lincoln (Will Forte) and a classic 1980s-era blue spaceman named Benny (Charlie Day).

Aries 21 March - 20 April
As the Sun eases into Pisces, take heed if you feel like resting and recharging, as you're in a natural phase when you'll benefit from doing just so. Strangely, you could feel both restless and lack motivation. As your intuition is primed higher now, attention to feelings may prompt action concerning a goal that may have seemed out of reach. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Watch out for mixed signals this week, not only because Mercury is retrograde, but also because a Sun Neptune link could cause you to misunderstand someone's motives. Communication mishaps might delay progress, so it may be best to be willing to give someone the benefit of the doubt. If you are unsure, play safe. Call your prediction line for more news and astral advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Plans get a boost, with a chance to brainstorm and receive vital feedback. Relying solely on your own judgement may be a mistake though, as you might miss something that a fresh pair of eyes could easily spot. On another note, you're possibly working yourself up to making a few changes which might, if you are honest, be long overdue. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Should you go ahead with an important goal, or perhaps the career move you've been dreaming of? The chances are, you've been feeling the need for a different kind of challenge for some time. As things stand, taking small steps may be the way to go. Going too fast too soon could put too much pressure on you. So, for now, easy does it. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Leo 24 July - 23 Aug
Your more sensitive side may show up from this week, as the Sun moves into Pisces. You might want to protect secrets that feel too delicate to share. Yet, you could be a recipient of other people's covert data, as they seek out someone to help ease their burdens. Don't forget about you, though. If you need a break, try to arrange one. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo 24 Aug - 23 Sept
How are you getting along with those important people in your life? From this week, one word might stand out as being crucial, and that is "clarity". Category Four-bedroom detached
Additional Master bedroom with en suite and dressing room, galleried landing, views over countryside
Guide price £750,000
Agent Intercounty, 1 Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600333.

THIS Grade II listed former schoolhouse in Gilston sits in a generous plot with a carriage driveway and many original features including a vaulted hallway, attractive sash windows and fireplaces.

The front door leads through to the entrance hallway where you'll see the impressive vaulted ceiling. There is also a sash window to the front and an attractive church-style door to the kitchen.

A glass paned doorway opens to the main hall where there is a fireplace with stone surround and solid wood flooring. Leading off this hall is the lounge which has a sash window to the front aspect and a door to the rear garden. The solid wood flooring continues and there is a brick fireplace.

Next to this is the dining room where there is a bay window to the rear and French doors opening onto the garden. There is also a study area with built-in base cupboards.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of base and eye level units with granite work surfaces. There is a butler sink, a built-in oven with inset electric hob and oil-fired Aga as well as a recess for an American style fridge/freezer.

The separate utility room has another butler-style sink unit.

The galleried landing features built-in bookshelves with storage under. There are four bedrooms, with an en-suite and dressing room to the master.

Outside there is plenty of driveway parking and a brick-built garage with barn doors. At the rear is a patio area while the remainder of the garden is laid to lawn with views over the countryside.

There is also a greenhouse and vegetable garden with picket fencing.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

AS we head towards spring, now is traditionally the time many people start to think about selling their home.

If there is one question I hear more than any other it is "Is now a good time to put the house on the market?"

Of course there are many factors governing whether or not it is a good time to sell and many of them relate to personal circumstances. In a perfect world we'd all want to sell at the market's peak and then buy when prices were dropping off, but this is a difficult one to pull off.

Second guessing the housing market requires something of a sixth sense and a crystal ball. However, if you are thinking about selling, now is a pretty good time. It's a seller's market out there due to a shortage of stock and while the number of properties for sale has been falling for several months, demand has been rising steadily.

This imbalance between supply and demand might put upward pressure on prices, but it does make it easier and faster to sell your home. Compare this to a buyer's market, when supplies are plentiful and prices more flexible and buyers often have the choice of lots of similar properties.

Decisions may be based on tiny differential, so if your property has any obvious disadvantages - i.e. it is close to the main road or has a shorter lease or even a slightly older décor - you may find it harder to sell.

You should also be aware that a seller's market will not last forever, especially as, with the market rising, more people will be tempted to put their properties up for sale, ensuring supplies will return to more balanced levels.

If you're thinking of moving, now's the time.

On the market for £459,995

H&B / Newhall Projects Howick And Brooker Move To Newhall

Following Harlow estate agent Howick and Brooker's appointment as selling agent for Newhall Projects, the Old Harlow firm are pleased to announce that as from the 11th January they will be assisting with the marketing and re-opening of the sales suite in The Chase regarding the last few remaining new units.

It is a further continuation of a long association with Newhall, going back to its early days when Howick and Brooker marketed some of the very first properties. Managing Director Paul Brooker says: "We are delighted to be working with Newhall Projects so closely and it is an exciting business expansion between ourselves and our clients and also a privilege to take over and manage their sales operations with our own highly experienced sales team in these fine offices in the centre of Newhall. We are a family business and have been in Old Harlow for almost forty years, so we feel proud to be involved with this unique development."

The Howick and Brooker Partnership will also be marketing Newhall resale properties as well, along side new, ensuring an on-site show room and gallery for all of the exciting properties in this neighbourhood which boosts many bold contemporary homes with strong modern architecture being a key feature, interspersed with ample green space.

Paul Brooker continues: "Newhall offers a unique living environment and a great product. It has bespoke architecture and a great deal of thought has been put into the development. Living space is very important to people today, and at Newhall, when they get home at the end of the day they have all this open-plan space to enjoy. The green space outside is another plus. We find that Newhall attracts many young professional people and families, as well as older downsizers with a young-at-heart attitude."

Howick and Brooker is the leading and longest-established estate agency in Harlow and the surrounding villages, offering the full range of sales and lettings from their premises in High Street Old Harlow. Telephone number 01279 418888 or visit www.hbproperty.uk

Jaguar's Xtra Factor

Check out all our latest motoring features online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Drive/

■ MATT JOY

IT'S a very busy time over at Jaguar, what with the F-Type Roadster now prowling the streets and the just-announced Coupe version ready to do the same.

There's the high performance XJR to come too, but it's the more mainstream models that are relevant to most of us - which is why the XF is so important.

Jaguar has given the XF a few key updates for 2014 and, reflecting the times we live in, the most important change is the introduction of a more frugal new diesel engine.

The 2.2-litre four cylinder unit improves on the previous version with impressive figures of 129g/km of CO₂ and 57.7mpg, the kind of numbers that appeal to your wallet rather than your heart.

Part of the reason for the improvement is some clever techy stuff in the shape of a revised cooling system and a bigger EGR

Fact File

Jaguar XF 2.2 Diesel
Premium Luxury 163

£35,795

ENGINE: 2.2-litre diesel unit producing 161bhp
TRANSMISSION: 8-speed automatic driving rear wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 130mph, 0-62mph in 10.5s
ECONOMY: 57.7mpg (combined)
CO₂ RATING: 129g/km valve, but what makes greater sense to you and me is the stop-start system that cuts the engine out when not needed.

If you've not experienced stop-start before it might feel a bit weird, but once you trust that the engine will start again the instant you release the brake pedal it becomes second nature.

It all helps eke out a few more miles per gallon and it's clever in other ways, too - pull up and put the transmission in Park and it goes into stop mode, but release your seat belt and it knows you're home and switches off completely.

You still get the XF's bit of theatre when you start up, as the air vents glide electrically open and the previously-flush circular gearlever rises up from between the seats.

The gearbox is also a new addition with eight forward ratios. That might seem like an awful lot, but out on the motorway the engine is barely above tickover at the legal limit, keeping noise levels down and fuel economy up.

Despite appearing focused on economy, the XF still offers a driving experience that's a cut above the norm.

Whether the speed is high or low it remains poised, filtering out bumps so you're aware of them, but no discomfort is caused. Yet the flip side of this is that when you start to press on, the XF is every inch the sports saloon, gripping strongly and staying level and controlled through corners.

But the XF is a car you'd be happy to live with on a daily basis, too. The seats are supportive and comfortable, their heating will toast your behind if you leave them on full power and the top-drawer audio system can make the worst traffic jams seem irrelevant.

Once upon a time Jaguars were all about the cut and thrust and weren't so easy to justify on a financial basis. But the 2.2 Diesel XF is as economical and easy to live with as a fairly humble family hatchback, yet gives you so much more in terms of comfort, style and driving pleasure.

It's hard not to be very impressed.

Daniel breaks junior record at HRC again

HARLOW Running Club members produced some excellent performances at the Great Bentley Half Marathon in Essex.

There were several personal best (PB) times for the distance and one club record.

This was despite the very windy conditions on the course near Colchester.

Pride of place went to 18-year-old Daniel Jephcott, who finished in 255th place out of 748 finishers in an excellent PB of 1 hour, 41 minutes and 2 seconds, which improved the HRC U-20 record by 29 seconds.

First HRC member to finish was Jamie Jephcott, 94th in a superb 1:28.54.

He was followed home by Rick Ricketts, just recovered from injury, who was 124th in 1:31.41.

Injury rules Munro out for season

HARLOW avenged their 6-3 loss to promotion hopefuls Upminster fourths earlier this season with a 1-0 win at Leventhorpe School, but it came at a cost as a horrible injury ruled out key player James Munro for the rest of the East Men's Hockey League division six south east campaign.

With 10 minutes to play Munro sustained a knee injury, which saw him carried off the pitch and taken to hospital.

"I would just like to say a huge thank you to everyone that helped me, unfortunately I have damaged my anterior cruciate ligament which means my season is over and await further tests to find out the full extent of the injury. Good luck to the lads for the rest of the season," said Munro.

● HARLOW Ladies won 12-0 against Southend thirds. Tracey Taylor, Sarah Donaghey, Sarah Alderson, Lucy Dearman, Lara Horrax (3), Tanishka Naidoo (2) and Nina Johnson-Marshall were among the scorers.

Burnt Mill teacher ready for dream England debut

A PE teacher at a Harlow secondary school is preparing to play out her dream in South Africa, as she represents England in her sport.

Kristina O'Hara, head of PE at Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, has been selected for the INA (Indoor Netball Association) England squad for the World Championships in May.

A member of Hertford Hornets Netball Club, O'Hara started her intensive training programme on Saturday in Bristol to build up her stamina for the fast and furious tournament games.

O'Hara said: "I have played in the premiership for three years and have competed at county and national level, but this is the first time I have represented England. This has always been the dream.

"Indoor netball is played on courts surrounded by nets so the ball never goes out of play. The game, therefore, is all about speed and agility. In traditional netball, I play in the goal attack position, but I'm only 5ft 6ins which I think has gone against me during previous selection processes. In indoor netball, my strength of speed and agility pays off. "I was happy with my performance during the trial, but I still didn't know if I'd been selected until I received an email two days later. I was so excited to find out. This has long been my ambition."

Indoor netball is a new venture on the international stage for England, but the sport has been running successfully for more than 30 years in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, and is played by 90,000 men, women and children.

Indoor netball teams consist of six players, with two attacks, two links and two defence.

The INA World Championships will see England compete against

DREAM COME TRUE: Kristina O'Hara is gearing up for her international netball debut for England

South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

O'Hara, who has worked at Burnt Mill for six years, had a knee operation just 12 months ago, but is committed to training hard between now and the championships.

O'Hara, who lives in Broxbourne, said: "The official training sessions are every week now until the three-week trip in May. But, I will also be working hard on my speed and cardiovascular at the school gym after lessons.

"My involvement with INA England gives me the opportunity to promote netball to our students who will hear all about my journey.

"I have already started training our girls in indoor netball and they are loving the faster pace of the game. Our school netball team is heading off to Paris for five days during the Easter holidays to compete in a schools competition themselves."

Golden Naomi's double delight at East Champs

HARLOW Athletic Club fielded 20 athletes in the 2014 Eastern Counties and Essex Indoor Championships, the club's best showing for many years.

The contingent certainly showed plenty of promise.

Naomi Harryman (15) scooped double gold, winning the long jump (5.50metres) and triple jump (10.96m).

In the process she extended her own club record for the triple jump from 10.94m.

She rounded off her weekend with an unexpected Eastern Counties bronze in the 60m hurdles.

Many events doubled up as the Essex Championships, and Harryman's time was the second fastest in the county so she picked up a silver medal as well.

She narrowly missing out on her target of sub 9 seconds for this event, recording a time of 9.11s.

Further medal success came in the U-17 boys 60m.

Mohamed Tameddou (15) picked up an Eastern Counties bronze, clocking 7.34s.

Club mate Dylan Ellis (15), clocked 7.39s for an Essex bronze after his fifth place overall finish.

Jack Reed (19) reached the final of the U-20 boys 200m final, finishing fifth.

Joe Bailey (15) was agonisingly piped to a place in the U-17 400m final by just 0.16 of a second, finishing seventh.

Jordan Sheridan (14) was seventh in the U-15 long jump.

Jessica Parkinson and James Murphy (both 11) made impressive club debuts in the U-13s 60m and 800m respectively.

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Murphy's time placed him fourth overall.

HAC coach Steve Lott said: "Naomi grabs the headlines, deservedly so, as what she's achieved already this season is phenomenal and her consistency and drive are to be admired. And as a club we can be pleased that we are developing athletes who are performing in some of the most competitive athletic events – getting two athletes into the U-17 60m final was very satisfying indeed. We can use the positive experience of this weekend to build into the outdoor season where, hopefully, we can be just as competitive."

Other HAC times were: U-17 girls: 300m Megan Price 46.2s, Eryn Madsen 48.31s; 200m Amy Hunt 28.79s; 60m Ellie Williams 9.07s.

U-17 boys: 60m Shemar Boldiszar 7.67s, Ashley Rich 7.88s, Corey Harrison 7.82s, Harry Woodall 7.65s, Lewis Wright 9.00s; 200m Shemar Boldiszar 24.05s; shot put Callum Bruton 7.44m.

U-15 boys: long jump Jordan Sheridan 4.67m, Teale Cunningham 4.20m; 60m Jordan Sheridan 8.41s, Teale Cunningham 8.47s; 60m hurdles Teale Cunningham 10.56s.

U-13 girls: 60m Jessica Parkinson 9.36.

U-13 boys: 60m hurdles Danny Sanderson 11.69s; 800m James Murphy 2:38.11.

Meanwhile, over the same weekend, the cross country teams endured high h

Frankie Edwards taking seventh and sixteenth respectively.

In the girls' event Charlotte Pratt took silver, ahead of Harlow's Hallie Coppington-Jones (fourth), Savannah Sirkett (eighth), Ellen Savidge (10th), Katie Brennan (15th) and Maddie Bailey (21st).

Sixty-one athletes completed the course.

In the main league events, Harlow were only able to field teams in the U-13 competitions with so many other athletes at the indoor championships or otherwise unavailable.

In the U-13 boys' section, the team finished a respectable fifth out of 11.

Lewis Harknett took individual silver over the 3km course in 11.11 minutes.

His twin brother, Owen, managed a strong run too, to finish 15th in a time of 12.07.

The U-13 girls managed a creditable seventh with much improved individual performances.

Lottie Rowedder finished in 11th place (13.26), beating several members of the Essex girls team in the process, with Zoe Rutter in 27th (14.50) and Asleigh Rowland in 43rd (24.55).

There were some individual performances to note in the older age groups: Donald Campbell, in the U-17 6km event, managed 14th in a time of 24.26.

In the Veteran 40 8km category, Brett Savidge clocked 40.02 for 41st and club coach, Paul Bailey, was 44th, completing the course in 41.26.

Hawks sink Yachtsmen as debutant striker scores

Harlow Tn3
Wroxham 0
(Ryman Football League, division one north)

NEW signing David Laird scored on his Hawks debut as Harlow Town closed the gap on leaders VCD Athletic to a single point with a 3-0 home win against Wroxham on Saturday.

Alex Read also netted twice as Danny Chapman's men enjoyed a convincing victory against the Ryman division one north strugglers.

Ryman division one north manager of the month for January, Chapman had completed the signing of 28-year-old forward Laird on Friday from Ryman premier side Wingate & Finchley.

At the other end keeper James May, who picked up the Ryman golden gloves award in January after being beaten just once in the league, managed another shut out.

But it is the capture of Laird, which is a real feather in the cap for Chapman.

Laird played a pivotal role in Wingate's treble-winning 2010-11 season.

Chapman said: "He is another James Bunn-type player. He will never be very quick but he's someone who can hold up the ball and join play. He has a lack of match sharpness but he will be firing in a couple of months."

Laird was straight into the action against Wroxham but was denied by a superb save from Wroxham keeper Robert Juhasz after three minutes.

Laird had one effort cleared off the line by Jordan King.

George Smith had a shot turned around a post by Juhasz.

All three goals came in the second half, and Harlow opened their account in the 50th minute. Laird volleyed in from 18 yards out.

The Hawks doubled their advantage in the 59th minute. Prolific frontman Read turned a Wroxham defender before placing the ball calmly to the right of Juhasz.

Harlow got their third with seven minutes left. Substitute Chinedu McKenzie played a neat ball to the back post that Juhasz missed, and George Smith laid the ball across for Read to tap in from two yards.

Chapman, who picked up the January Macron Ryman North award after guiding his side to third in the table on the back of a run of five wins in six, hailed two-goal Read. He said: "It doesn't matter who he plays against - he will always get goals. It's a natural instinct that can't be taught."

"We played really well and dominated the game over the 90 minutes. We could have scored even more."

HARLOW TN: May, Barnard, Eadie, McLeod-Urquhart, O'Donoghue, Glowacki, G. Smith, Muguo, Read, Laird, J. Smith.

Subs: McKenzie, Dadson, Knowles (gk).

● HAWKS boss Danny Chapman has swooped for 18-year-old Dagenham central defender Danny Rumens.

The youngster is set to be in the squad for Saturday's league match at Redbridge.

Chapman said: "He played for Thurrock when they beat us and then played on loan for VCD when we beat them 2-1. It's a good signing."

Striker Leon Antoine (knee) should be back for Saturday, but Scott Curley serves the last of a three-game ban.

Right-back Robbie Martin (thigh) should be back in a fortnight, while midfielder Danny Brown is set to return in early March. Winger Shane Stamp is also close to a return.

Harlow visit Witham in the league on Tuesday.

BATTS serves up open day with former GB stars

FORMER international players put young wannabes through their paces as BATTS table tennis club hosted a gala open day at its Old Harlow headquarters.

More than 100 visitors from the local area and further afield attended the official opening of the Elderfield club as a Talent Development Centre for the English Table Tennis Association (ETTA).

BATTS is one of only four clubs in the country to be awarded this special status.

It guarantees the club funding to have a full-time coach for three years.

"As well as being a special honour for the club it is a great opportunity for local players who would like to learn the sport and train with top coaches," said a club spokesman.

The open day gave many hopefuls a chance to try their hand at table tennis and see experts, including former international players, showing their skills.

Plenty of players and coaches were on hand to help the visitors at the open day.

Local coaches included Alan

COURTING SUCCESS: New BATTS club coach Jane Barella offers advice to a new recruit Morley, Dennis Stocks, Steve Horst and Graham Frankel.

Former internationals from further afield included Joe Kennedy, Craig Bryant (both England), Tom Browne and Matt Stanforth.

The event was organised by Jane Barella, the new Talent Development Coach at BATTS.

Barella is a highly experienced coach who has moved to the position from her previous job where she was responsible for coaching the London region.

As a player, Barella was five times Surrey champion and in the top 12 in England, before going to train and coach in Belgium and Japan.

Guest of honour at the open day was Nick Jarvis, the former England number one player, who is now in charge of coaching and talent development for ETTA. Jarvis, supported by Barella, explained to visitors that the Talent Development Centre approach was a new idea, aimed at ensuring England regains its position as a leading nation in table tennis.

Barella said: "It's exciting times ahead for BATTS, which has always been a club that welcomes any new players. Now the club will be strengthening its existing links with local schools. By sending coaches out to hold sessions at schools BATTS will be looking to discover future champions who are prepared to devote the time and effort to train hard."

Three Harlow schools are beginning coaching sessions, supported by BATTS: Harlowbury, St Nicholas and Mark Hall.

After Lord Mayor's show for Harlow

HARLOW Hawks maintained their bid for promotion with a 68-60 home victory over lowly Hatfield Magic in division two of the Herts County Basketball League.

It was a case of after the Lord Mayor's show as Harlow struggled to find the form that won them the Herts Plate in their previous match.

Debutant Alex Hinds came off the bench to open his account for the Hawks, who led 18-16 at the end of the first quarter.

Harlow extended their lead by six points with back to back baskets from Russ Allan in the second quarter.

Hinds hit a big three-pointer while Rimantas Norkaliunas, Roan Lenihan, Tom White and Lee Jones added to the Hawks' score but Magic were three points down after the second quarter.

Norkaliunas went to the line twice back to back with some strong offensive rebound play and was fouled on both occasions.

However, Norkaliunas only made one out of four free throws and the visitors fought back with back to back baskets to make it a three-point game again. Lee Morris and Russ Stonehouse took over scoring duties but with one quarter left, Hawks only led 50-46.

Stonehouse scored a big three pointer in the first two minutes before Hinds hit eight points after a three-point play from a free throw.

White also helped Hawks extend the lead by 10 points with two back to back baskets, while Allan had the last word by converting one of his free throws to clinch a 68-60 win.

HARLOW HAWKS: A. Hinds 15 points, R. Stonehouse 9, R. Allan 9, L. Jones 8, R. Norkaliunas 8, T. White 6, R. Lenihan 4, L. Morris 3, S. Burgess 2, C. Lovett 2, S. Friedner 2, S. Martin 0.

Disqualified Osagie set to bounce back

ANDREW Osagie looks in red-hot form as he prepares to cross swords with reigning World Indoor Championships gold medalist Mohamed Aman at the Sainsbury's Indoor Grand Prix international meeting at Birmingham this weekend.

The Harlow Athletic Club runner had secured the second fastest indoor time in the world this season when he competed in Dusseldorf in Germany 12 days ago.

Osagie's main target this year is the World Indoor Championships in Sopot, Poland, next month, for which he has already qualified.

The former Burnt Mill School student recorded an emphatic victory in the 800m at the Sainsbury's British Athletics Indoor Championships in Sheffield on Sunday.

However, he was promptly disqualified for stepping out of his lane, but his improving form has indicated that he is ready to build on the outstanding results he attained in 2012.

The 25-year-old Olympic and World 800m finalist had set a season best of 1:46.48 in Dusseldorf to give him world number two ranking, after which he tweeted: "First

IN THE LEAD: Harlow's Osagie sprints through to win the 800m race at Sheffield on Sunday, but was later disqualified (Pic: OP Photographic)

800m of the season tonight and ran a PB and am 2nd in the world.. productive day I'd say! Still a long way go and a lot of work to do!"

Osagie was looking to retain his British indoor title at the English Institute of Sport at Sheffield.

Running in lane five, Osagie, who is coached by Craig Winrow, went straight to the front and dictated the pace early on, clocking 28.01 at the 200m split.

With rivals Mukhtar Mohammed (Sheffield), Guy Learmonth (Lasswade) and Paul Goodall (Norwich) in hot pursuit, Osagie stepped on the gas and led at the halfway point with a time of 57.32.

Goodall made a move to the front, but Osagie responded and kicked for home with an impressive injection of speed to leave the rest of the field trailing in his wake.

He crossed the finish line in 1:50.85, but was disqualified shortly afterwards for running over the lane in the back straight on the final lap.

Mohammed was given the win (1:51.61) with Learmonth second (1:51.87) and Goodall third.

Mohammed felt sorry for his GB team-mate, later tweeting: "I've been disqualified before so understand what's happened to Andrew."

"I ran Andrew's race and not my own. I was reacting to others, not making others react to me."

Swifts and referee leave Hawks in a flap

THE Hawks paid the price for a below-par display and missed the chance to go top as they crashed to a 4-3 loss at home to title rivals Heybridge Swifts, writes ALAN SCOTT.

Harlow Town co-owner Tom Cunningham could not decide what he was more angry about – the officialdom or some of his players' lack of desire, but he will probably settle for the fact that just 122 people came out to watch this seven-goal thriller between two of the sides battling for promotion, and with his club poised to go top of the pile.

Inaccurate passing and poor defending, it was all there.

Harlow boss Danny Chapman admitted his side were poor in the second half, but was furious with the referee.

"It's not sour grapes, I thought the best team won. But that was the worst refereeing display I have seen since I have been a player or a manager.

"He lost control and he could not handle the pressure."

It was a different story midway through the first half when you sensed Harlow might usurp VCD as table-toppers with the hosts leading 2-1.

Harlow took the lead after only two minutes. Junior Dadson fired in a shot at the back post which was going wide until Hawks skipper Darren Blewitt diverted it in.

But Swifts equalised after some poor Harlow defending allowed Ben Newson to cross for Reece Morgan to tap home at the far post on 15 minutes.

Joe O'Donoghue scrambled the ball home from a corner to put the hosts back in front on 21 minutes.

Heybridge levelled a second time just two minutes before the break. Swifts left-back Ryan Hull whipped in a free-kick to the edge of the six-yard box and Robert King headed the ball into the roof of the net rather too easily to send the sides in level at half-time.

Heybridge then went in front on 53 minutes when Dumebi GB-Dumaka stabbed home.

Just on the hour Heybridge won a controversial penalty for a challenge by Blewitt on Newson in the box.

The centre-half clearly won the ball despite a very strong challenge, but the spot-kick was still awarded and King tucked it into the bottom right corner to make it 4-2.

Chapman said: "It was a great tackle. I went to see the referee afterwards which is not normally something I do. I was just completely baffled at the penalty."

Harlow's miserable night continued as Alex Read hit the right post from a powerful free-kick from 20 yards out.

The hosts refused to give up and after a goalmouth scramble Stan Muguo blazed into the net through a crowded six-yard box in injury-time, but Chapman's men could not conjure an equaliser.

Seven Harlow players were booked in total.
